

Tracey Simms' Weekend

Saturdays Class photo

We all learned so much in this class, colour mixing, painting without any pattern and learning the difference between cool and warm colours and how to place them.

A great day was had by all

Sundays Class Photo

This class was a still life on a textured surface.

Again Tracey was a wealth of information and taught us all about blending, textures, setting up a still life, light and shade and when to stop "playing" and let the painting talk.

I wish to thank Tracey for her time and generosity at imparting her wisdom and teaching us new ways to "see" colours, shapes and tonal values.

Both classes were a lot of fun and tremendous learning curves for those involved.

I think we all went home with different ways to look at adding texture to and using that texture in our work and using the Atelier Interactive paints and mediums.
